Ayers Is Promoted At Bendix

New Sales Chief Of Local Division

RICHARD W. AYERS

Appointment of Richard W. Ayers as director of sales for the Hydraulic division of Bendix corporation was announced today by Robert B. Hingate, general manager.

Ayers, who joined Bendix in 1943 in South Bend and came to the Hydraulic division (recently renamed from Lakeshore division) in 1953, has been sales manager for brake equipment and foundry sales since 1965.

He came to the local division as a sales account representative in 1953 and was advanced to assistant sales manager in 1959.

Ayers is a member of the Society of Automotive Engineers, the Grey Iron Foundry Society, the Economic Club of Southwestern Michigan, and a Berrien Hills country club.

He lives at 3004 Morton avenue, St. Joseph, with his wife, Kathryn, and their two children.

Don't Miss This Expose On Quacks

Starting in this newspaper today is a new series by Sylvia Porter on the $2 billion annual drain on Americans' pocket-books from health, nutritional and cosmetic quackery.

Since the costs of this quackery has zoomed as the phonies and the faddists have latched onto "space age" jargon and gimmicks, and since this cost may also be paid in sickness and heartbreak, this is a series of special interest to everyone, whether or not they have been taken in or tempted by false or wishful claim.

The first column appears on today's Market Page.

AUTO CLUB PHILOSOPHY

The auto club's unique approach to the drinking driver problem reflects its pace-setting philosophy in traffic safety.

It has set aside $100,000 during the past two years for safety campaigns aimed at Memorial Day, Independence Day and La-

Secretary of State James Hare, chairman of the Michigan State Safety Commission, has praised the club's work. While Hare says, "the boozier is the loser," the best theory is to "improve, but not too generously and know your own capacity."

Gruening Demands Inquiry

May Involve Millions For Mao's Firms

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators are taking a close look at charges that U.S. military contractors have purchased supplies for their Vietnam operations from Hong Kong firms controlled by Communist China.

The inquiry could lead to public hearings after Congress reconvenes Jan. 10.

In any event, a spokesman said Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, will follow it up, either personally or through his Senate subcommittee on foreign aid expenditures.

That panel has produced during the past nine months a series of questions about Red Chinese goods and U.S. military contractors.

STEEL DEAL?

The latest inquiry was produced by an account in the Sunday London Observer, which reported the United States bought $1 million worth of steel from Red China for construction of bases in Vietnam.

The Pentagon said Monday it had no information to substantiate that story, and no indication that any U.S. government procurement had come from Red China.

Joseph Lippman, the subcommittee's staff director, said his investigators asked the Pentagon Wednesday to fully investigate the Observer account.

Lippman said the request was relayed to the U.S. commander of the Pacific theater, based in Honolulu.

SLIPS POSSIBLE?

Meanwhile, American sources in Singapore conceded that slips can occur in U.S. precautions designed to make sure there are no purchases of Red Chinese goods.

"I think we may be looking at just the top of the iceberg here," Lippman said in an interview.

Gruening and his subcommittee have tangled with the Pentagon about two earlier allegations of trading with the Red Chinese. Such deals would violate American policy.

On April 21, Gruening wrote Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara saying the Navy had been buying electronic gear in Hong Kong from two firms owned or controlled by Red Chinese interests.

BUYING BARGES

On June 16, he wrote again, saying a Navy contractor had been making "substantial purchases" from Communist firms in Hong Kong.

Gruening said part of that contract, for 15 steel barges, went to a subcontractor affiliated with Communist China.

Three months after he leveled that complaint, Gruening charged that the Pentagon apparently had made no attempt "to uncover the real situation."

Gruening was not available for comment on the latest allegation.

Thailand May Turn Into Another Vietnam

SENATOR MANSFIELD

Mansfield Worried About U.S. Involvement

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield sees in troubled Thailand the seeds of another Vietnam-style war.

The early ingredients of the Vietnam war are there, he said. American troops are being sent to help cope with rebel forces, he added, and, as was once the case in Vietnam, they are cast as advisers, not combatants.

"We could very well have in prospect another Vietnam," Mansfield said in an interview Thursday. "Our policy in Thailand seems to be treading the same path."

And in Vietnam itself: "I look for a long, drawn-out struggle."

Mansfield said U.S. efforts at peace have produced "no progress toward a just settlement" and the danger of expanded conflict has increased in the past year.

VIETNAM OUTLOOK

He saw a flicker of hope and a step in the right direction in the U.S. request that U.N. Secretary-General U Thant seek a Vietnam cease-fire.

"In a sense, it is a controlled, limited war," said the pensive, pipe-smoking Senate leader. "But it's a war which could get out of hand through miscalculation or accident."

"The war has escalated gradually, the dangers have increased," Mansfield said in a year-end assessment of the situation he analyzed 12 months ago as head of a Senate fact-finding team.

In a report published last Jan. 8, the Mansfield team warned that the war could engulf adjacent Laos, move into Cambodia and erupt, too, in Thailand.

U.S. 'ADVISORS'

Now, Mansfield said, the United States has 35,000 to 37,000 men in Thailand, "a very decided increase over the situation a year ago." He said Americans are ferrying troops by air to northeast Thailand to cope with insurgents there.

Mansfield said the Johnson administration has dealt carefully with Cambodia "and seems to be aware of the fact that Prince Norodom Sihanouk's policy is, if at all possible, to keep Cambodia for the Cambodians and apart from the struggle."

In Laos, Mansfield said, a

The Dove Of Peace Sheds Only A Few Feathers At Bridgman

A poem, "Goosy, Goosy Gander," in today's Letters to The Editor column suggests that the school embroglio at Bridgman may not follow the reasonably familiar pattern of a storm blowing up and then just as quickly subsiding.

Mechanically, the battle has been resolved to a certain degree.

Earlier in the week the school board rescinded a previous resolution calling for the immediate ouster of the high school principal whom some of the board members feel is jaxing up the Bridgman system at too fast a clip.

His is now free to finish out his contractual obligation through the balance of the 1966-67 term.

The decision gets the board back on former legal ground than it had taken a few weeks ago and keeps the system from being blacklisted by the powerful Michigan Education Association and some other associations populated by school administrators.

It does not, however, as "Goosy, Goosy Gander," implies, settle the deeper argument as to what kind of educational programming shall be controlling.

Ever since John Dewey, the patron saint of the public school educators, declared better than a half century ago that learning by rote is no learning at all, this programming has been under wide experimentation.

We, at a few years past the mid century mark, passed through a mixture of what Dewey protested and what he advocated.

Spelling bees and the pronunciation of words were a daily stint in the lower grades. Manual training was a required course for one year in the junior high school level. Home economics was similarly demanded of the girls. High school branched off into a rather wide variety of electives, aimed in two opposing directions; trade school for some and college preparatory for others.

After we had been graduated, and the schools had weathered the rigors of the 1930 depression, many systems moved strongly to a super Deweyism which, so far as we could ever make of it, went on the theory that it is not so important to know something as it is to be able to look it up in a source book.

This produced an interesting type of graduate, one who could not spell or piece together a coherent sentence and to whom simple addition and subtraction was agony itself. We recall the frantic struggle right after World War II in finding a stenographer who could transcribe into understandable terms what she had first taken in symbolic form from dictation. Even the dictaphone failed in this regard.

We accept the word of our Society Editor who once taught school in this progressive era that the worst of that superficial training has been discarded.

Sputnik I did more than shake the Eisenhower Administration. It raised a positive furor that the entire American system was woefully weak in scientific training. As a result, the courses in many high schools today would stop Tom Edison in his tracks should he return to try his hand at them.

Aside from the economics of any programming (how much can a given district afford to provide its students), the nub of the argument at Bridgman is whether to enter into this educational experimentation or remain outside of it.

"Goosy, Goosy Gander" humorously portrays the folly of departing a steady course for uncharted paths merely for the sake of so doing. Its author, in a side note to us, writes, in effect, that old fashioned does not necessarily imply inadequacy.

This is true and we only wish his ideas could be inscribed on some of the public buildings in Washington.

The other side of the coin is the danger of persistence turning into dogma out of step with the times.

Graduation from high school is not the distinction it was a generation or two ago. A college degree is now regarded as the minimum in open sesame to better things in life. Among the trades a training school certificate holds a comparable position.

Since the ivy halls and the technician's school call the tune and they are singing in the experimental key, the secondary schools are being forced to enter the same maelstrom. Those with hold back will be sending out disadvantaged graduates.

"Old vs. new" is a perennial split of opinion in any human endeavor. It is an unfortunate seizing upon of a symbolism to decide whether any modification should be adopted.

The partial rejection of that super progressivism mentioned above shows that the merit of an idea depends upon its intrinsic value, not its aging.

Another peril in measuring an idea is the prestige and reverence personally attaching to its advocate or its opponent.

From this distance it strikes us there has been an overdose of the latter in the Bridgman dispute.

Georgia's procedure of having its legislature pick a governor when no candidate receives a majority of the popular vote "is as old as the nation itself."

In pointing this out, the U.S. Supreme Court has issued a reminder that Georgia has simply adapted a clause of the federal Constitution which directs the House of Representatives to choose a president when no candidate receives a majority of the electoral votes.

The court has thus ruled that Georgia has as much right to settle deadlocks in this manner as has the federal government. This implies endorsement for matching clauses in two other state constitutions, and suggests the court would also uphold the 38 other states which do not require majority votes but have the legislatures settle ties.

This still left a complaint that Georgia's legislature is "badly" apportioned, and hence not representative. The court settled that by citing its own decision of last May 16, which held that the 1965 reapportionment, currently in effect, remains valid until May 1, 1968.

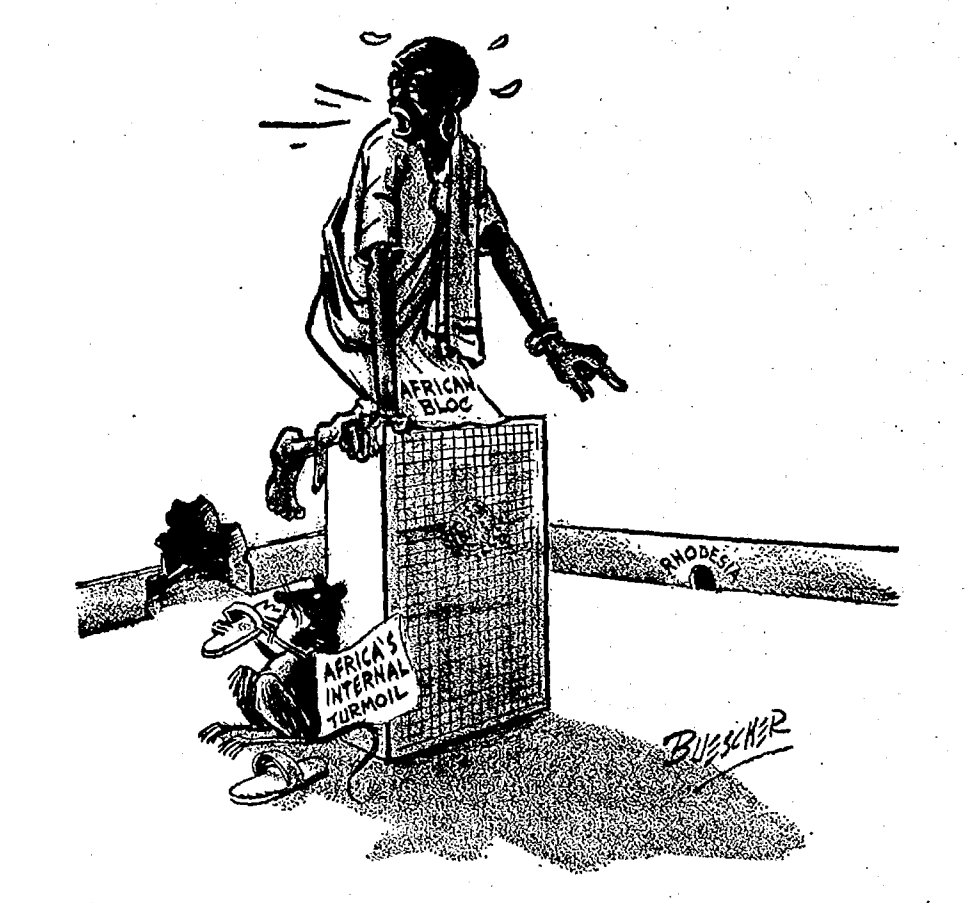

What it all comes down to in Georgia, of course, is that Lester G. Maddox will probably be named to the governor's chair. He only ran for governor because of his war with the White House, so this is anything but good news for President Johnson.

Whether Michigan State or Notre Dame rates No. 1 in collegiate football may never be settled to everyone's satisfaction. There's no doubt, however, that State's library is just about tops in catching book thieves.

The University's electronic private eye does not imperil "academic freedom," violate constitutional safeguards against illegal search and seizure or invade the privacy of one's domicile. It just squawks loud and clear.

Here's how it works: When it is consigned to a shelf, a concealed electric plate is electrically charged. In checking out the book, the librarian erases the charge. Let the borrower attempt a heist, though, and the charged plate triggers a circuit that locks the exit turnstile, sounds the alarm, and, in all probability, turns the borrower's cheeks crimson.

Letters To The Editor...

GOOSY, GOOSY GANDER
At Wawa there stands,
For all men to view,
Majestic and lifelike,
Resplendent in blue,
The form of a goose,
And I'm told that it's true,
That nothing, yes, nothing,
This goose, could subdue.

A he, not a she,
A gander, who'd do
The most daring things—
Just so they were new.
He flapped his young wings—
"Honk, honk, and pooh, pooh!"
He told the old leader,
"And, nuts to you."

"I've studied new math
At Kalamazoo,
And set my computer
On Base Number Two.
Go back to the Flintstones.
If you've nothing to do,
Our heading's all figured
For Timbuktu."

Alas! So 'tis said,
He gathered a few,
And happy-go-lucky,
Away they flew.
Eager to try
Anything new,
Away from the old ways,
Tried and true.

They headed north,
And something drew
Them toward a line
That is known as Dew.
A break in the clouds,
And he peered through—
"Camels at last,
And I say, 'Fool!'
For a moment, I thought
They were caribou."

Over the Yukon,
Snowflakes flew,
Over the tundra,
The cold winds blew.
At Unalakleet,
Their bellies turned blue,
But the young gander said,

"In an hour or two,
We'll all be warm
At Timbuktoo."

Now what he said
Was partly true.
They did get warm
In an hour, or two.
But sad to say
They became a stew,
In an Eskimo shack
At Kotzebue.

So, at Wawa, there stands
For all men to view,
Majestic, and lifelike,
Resplendent in blue,
A wild goose, a gander,
A gander who'd do
The most daring things,
Just so they were new.
Old Fashioned,

The Herald-Press:
NIS QUESTION
One of the main questions we were concerned with was how one of the provisional members was chosen here at Lakeshore school. It had nothing to do with character. The mother had been calling parents and stating her son was not chosen and she was very upset. She was also upsetting many others.

The announcements and invitations were mailed out on October 19th, we were told. Initiation was Oct. 25th. On this day several people were called and no one mentioned this boy as being a member.

October 26th the boy and his mother went to the school, talked to someone, and the mother called me to say the student had been accepted and that the letter was lost. As of Oct. 27th the letter had not been received. He was to be initiated later.

We were wondering if maybe other letters were lost.

A letter written in this column several days ago signed "Lakeshore Defended" stated in one paragraph stating, "So your child was not selected etc. The Society should not be condemned or qualifications doubted merely because someone's feelings are hurt."

So to all parents and students in doubt, and many have called from other schools also, do not be hurt or disappointed. The letter may be lost and you can as yet receive it, a few months later, maybe?

Honestly, this is only a small part of this problem.

The mother said she talked to one party at the school; someone else said it couldn't have been; it had to be someone else, etc.

I believe this is everyone's business, as no doubt some of our tax money is helping with these programs at the schools.

Fable: A jaguar persuaded a cat to teach him how to pounce. After a few successful experiments with bugs and insects, the jaguar, his appetite whetted, decided to try out his new technique on the cat itself. The cat, however, jumped out of danger like a flash, and the jaguar landed in a heap.

"That isn't fair," whined the jaguar. "You didn't teach me that trick."

speaking of YOUR HEALTH

By Lester L. Coleman, M. D.

I was in an automobile accident almost one year ago. At that time the car in which I was riding was hit from the rear by another automobile. Almost immediately I felt terrible pain in my neck and back which has stayed with me to this day. The injury on my forehead healed quickly.

This was called "whiplash" by my doctor who had sympathetic understanding for the severe pain that I suffered.

When my condition was reported to the insurance company the adjuster said, "You too?" The feeling I had was that the pain in my back and neck was not considered real but rather imaginary.

I know the pain is real because I still have periods of discomfort that interfere with my ability to function as a wife and mother. Do I have a right to my discomfort, or should I be made to feel that I am a typical insurance collector.

Mrs. C.A.K., Indiana

Dear Mrs. K.: For readers who may not know what whiplash injury is, let me first explain what causes it. When your car was hit from the rear you were violently pushed forward. This caused the injury to your forehead.

When your automobile stopped suddenly your neck and body were thrown back almost with the speed of a whip. A tremendous strain was suddenly forced onto the muscles of the neck and the back.

If we were able to look inside the muscles, at that time, we would find the fibers to be torn and there would be many hemorrhages into the tissue. There would also be irritation of the nerves which come out of the bony spinal canal in the back and in the neck.

If the severity of the injury is great enough there can also be permanent damage to the spinal column itself. These changes are all included in the term whiplash.

The feeling of pain, tingling, numbness, weakness and heaviness is indeed a very real aftermath of an injury like yours. When your doctor made the diagnosis of whiplash he knew that the changes in the neck could either be temporary or permanent.

Unfortunately, the courts are filled with whiplash claims that are based on real and sometimes imaginary complaints. It is probably for this reason that you were given the feeling that your very real discomfort fell into the "you too" classification of whiplash.

In defense of the position of the insurance adjuster let me say that some claims have no basis in fact. A real medical condition, however, is not denied by them, especially when there is X-ray and neurological confirmation of your injury.

Doctors are very guarded in their prognosis of how long the discomfort will last. It has been their experience that some cervical neuralgias can be traced to a whiplash accident that may have occurred many years ago and long forgotten.

Indeed you have a right to your discomfort and, more especially, you have a right to be treated medically until such time as you are again returned to complete health.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH — Retirement from a job must not be retirement from joyful living. Leisure and retirement must be planned for long before it happens.

Dr. Coleman welcomes letters from readers, and, while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

CONTRACT BRIDGE...

By B. Jay Becker

You are the dealer, both sides vulnerable, and have opened One Heart. Partner responds One Notrump. What would you bid now with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠K6 ♥AJ842 ♦A73 ♣KJ5
2. ♠KQ75 ♥AK873 ♦— ♣KQ94
3. ♠A6 ♥AQJ9852 ♦7 ♣KQ3
4. ♠AJ3 ♥AQJ7 ♠J6 ♣KQ83

1. Pass. Before discussing the rebid after partner responds one notrump, it might be best to first try to pinpoint what is indicated by the notrump response. In general, the responder has a balanced hand with 6 to 9 high-card points.

Starting with this as a base, it is clear that game is in this deal is highly unlikely. While it is true that partner may have 9 points, even this optimistic view leaves us a point short of the 26 ordinarily needed for game. Moreover, since partner may also have 6, 7, or 8 points, any advance beyond one no-trump will jeopardize the part score likely to be made by passing.

There is no good reason to think that two hearts will be easier to make than one notrump. A pass is therefore best on all counts.

2. Two spades. This rebid, being a reverse, shows a powerful hand and strongly urges partner to bid again. Whenever the opener bids two touching suits in reverse order (that is, when the lower-ranking suit is named first), he shows at least a 17-point hand. The intention is to go on to game if partner supports hearts or spades, and to bid three clubs if partner's rebid is two notrump.

3. Four hearts. Even though we have only 16 high-card points, it would be a mistake to bid less than game. A jump to three hearts would not be forcing and partner might pass with values good enough to produce a game.

The hand can probably take eight tricks by itself and there is a reasonable prospect of partner's producing two more even with minimum values for the notrump response. We could go down, of course, if partner has the wrong type of hand, but this is a worthwhile risk to take.

4. Two notrump. Since there is no way of knowing whether partner has 6, 7, 8, or 9 points, all we can do at the moment is invite a game without actually bidding it. A two notrump bid in this sequence shows a balanced hand with 17, 18, or 19 points. In general, it asks partner to go on to three notrump with 8 or 9 points, and to pass with 6 or 7

BORN TODAY
Italian operatic composer Giacomo Puccini was born at Lucca, Italy, in 1858, into a family already distinguished in music. For four generations prior to his birth his paternal ancestors were professional musicians. He was educated at the Milan Conservatoire where he studied under Ponchielli.

In 1889, "Edgar," based upon an Albert de Musset story, was performed at La Scala. It was a failure, but his next opera, "Manon Lescaut," produced in Turin four years later, was a favorably received and is still prominent in opera repertoire. Even so, its success was as nothing when compared with Puccini's next opera, the brilliant, sparkling "La Boheme," produced in 1896 in Turin. Next came the equally successful "La Tosca," performed in Rome in 1900. Like "La Boheme," it has enjoyed unlimited popularity ever since.

On its first performance at La Scala in 1904, "Madame Butterfly" was pronounced an absolute failure. Three months later, the opera was performed again at Brescia and the verdict was speedily reversed. "The Girl of the Golden West," as the result of an unsatisfactory "book" and somewhat inferior music, failed to gain any widespread popularity, though it was well received when it was first performed in New York in 1910.

Puccini's last work — "and many claim his greatest — was "Turandot." Unfinished at the composer's death, it was completed by Alfano and first performed at La Scala in 1926.

Florin's May Build New Chapel

Funeral Home Proposes Branch In Fairplain

A request for rezoning of the southwest corner of Napier avenue and Union street to permit construction of a funeral home was filed Wednesday with the Benton township planning commission.

Henry P. Florin and H. Paul Florin, partners in the Florin funeral home, 272 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, propose to build a branch funeral home on the tract of more than three acres.

The application was presented to the planning commission by Henry Thain, an agent for Totzke Real Estate. The change would involve a shift from residential to commercial. The request was referred to a planning commission study committee.

After the planners' meeting, H. Paul Florin said the proposal is prompted by growth of the suburban area south of Benton Harbor.

WOULD SERVE SUBURBS

"Even though our Pipestone chapel has been continuously and extensively enlarged and modernized, we feel that an additional location would prove an added convenience to those living in the suburban area."

Plans for the Fairplain chapel are being developed by architect Craig Niephaus. A building of contemporary design with a chapel accommodating more than 300 and parking for 100 cars is proposed.

The Florins intend to continue the Pipestone street chapel and are planning a complete renovation there after construction of the Fairplain funeral home.

The southwest corner of Napier and Union was sought last spring as a location for a nursing home and the planning commission recommended a special permit for construction. However, the operator has since found another location.

Thief At Work During Carol Sing

Christmas carols rang through the lobby of Mercy hospital in Benton Harbor Wednesday night, while in an adjoining room, a thief apparently was playing his trade.

Stephen Sizer of 230 Higman Park, Benton township, told city police yesterday his coat, scarf and gloves had been taken while he was with a group of carolers, singing from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Police yesterday also investigated the theft of clothes from an auto owned by Edgar Harrell of Cardwell, Mo., and parked overnight Wednesday, at 679 Territorial road.

St. Joseph Man Freed Of Charge

A charge of assault and battery by automobile has been dismissed in Berrien Circuit court against a 23-year-old St. Joseph man.

Norbert Bublik, 2704 Lake Shore drive, was convicted in Municipal court of running into a woman parking attendant employed by Benton Harbor on Nov. 19, 1965. Bublik maintained innocence and appealed the case to Circuit court.

His attorney, George Keller, said the charge was not proved (dismissed) by Chief Assistant Prosecutor Quentin Fueller who explained further prosecution was not justified. The complaining witness Mrs. Norma DiVanni has gone to California since the incident.

Firemen Clear Out Smoke

St. Joseph firemen used a smoke ejector after a furnace motor burned out at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Dalrymple, 2409 Langley avenue, St. Joseph, at 8:16 p.m. last night, and filled the basement with smoke.

SHE REMEMBERS: A Benton Harbor woman, Mrs. Sadie Pullins, pays tribute to servicemen in Vietnam with this Christmas tree in her yard at 345 Summit street. She erected a similar tree in 1942 as a Yule monument to fighting men in World War II. She is seen on the porch of her home near the sign which represents her purpose: "Let us not forget those who cannot be with us." She said tree was donated by members of a band, "The 4 Ways," which includes her son, Floyd, as drummer. (Staff photo)

FUND NEARS RECORD

Santa Hitches Reindeer As Good Fellows Load Him In

One "shopping day" to go finds the Good Fellow counter a busy place this morning.

Collections tumbled in to the tune of $208.04 and three pleas for help arrived as 11th hour cases. Two of those applications for your generosity come from St. Joseph. The third is from Bridgman.

They'll be answered just as soon as our couriers whose legs are developing muscle cramps can get moving.

The contributions put the total almost to last year's record breaking $4,566.43.

The amount on hand at the moment is $4,546.90, and with luck Saturday may set a new goal to meet in the seasons ahead.

CAROLERS PITCH IN

A neighborhood group of St. Joseph girls went caroling the other night and picked up $1.36. The confusion in the office was such when one of their members brought in the money that we failed to obtain more background information on the youngsters. Anyway, we thank their inspired thought.

"Anonymous" kicks in to every worthy cause that comes down the pike. It's a sizeable corporation in St. Joe's Edgewater district and has been aiding this fund since its inception in 1931. The '66 infusion is a $100 check.

The Management club in Whirlpool's St. Joseph division passed the hat amongst their members and divided the proceeds equally between the two Good Fellow efforts in the Twin Cities. Our share is $25. Thanks, boys.

EIGHTH GRADERS

Using the same method yesterday before they closed their text books for a holiday rest, the eighth graders at the St. Joseph Catholic school collected $20 for this corner. That's a farewell gift in reverse fashion and a most appreciated one.

William (Bill) Rohn is the shortest man in the St. Joseph Lions club and the shortest executive (operations manager at LECO) in this area. Short, though, is no deterrent to being tall on ideas. Last Friday after reporting in from the Lions Newsie sale he told us, "There's more coming. We have a deal going at our plant."

The deal was an agreement among the company's employees to pass up exchanging cards with people they see every day and put the cost of a printed greeting into the Good Fellow program. It netted $61.68 from among about 135 participants. There's a picture story elsewhere in today's issue giving more details on this excellent idea.

TOMORROW IS THE GRAND FINALE

BEST WISHES TO EACH OTHER AND GOOD FELLOWS: Charles Berk of St. Joseph, who works in the electronics department at Laboratory Equipment Corp., Inc. St. Joseph suggested that it was foolish to exchange Christmas cards among fellow workers who see each other every day. He proposed giant Christmas card which everyone could sign. Money saved could be sent to charity. Employees voted to turn the $61 they collected to Herald-Press Good Fellow fund as suggested by Bill Rohn, operations manager at LECO and a member of the St. Joseph Lions Newsie team. Palladium Co. Offers Old Plant

Storage Room Needed After Wall Collapse

The Palladium Publishing Co. will provide the Benton Harbor public library a rent-free home for services that were disrupted Wednesday by the collapse of a wall.

Announcement was made today by W. J. Banyon, vice president and general manager, who said the company was pleased to offer the library the former home of The News-Palladium at 59 Wall street.

It was accepted quickly by the library board. Ray Mittan, board president, and Mrs. Eleanor Whitney, chief librarian, called it the best possible location, about a block away from the main library at 201 wall street.

"We are very grateful," said Mrs. Whitney. "It actually will represent a gain in space for us with practically no inconvenience because of the short distance."

BANYON STATEMENT

Banyon said it was fitting that the library should occupy a building that was created for the dissemination of information. It housed offices, news, composing and pressrooms of The News-Palladium for 33 years.

After the newspaper moved to Michigan and Oak street in 1955, the old publishing house was rented for seven years to the Whirlpool Technical Institute of Benton Harbor Community College.

The building is not earmarked for urban renewal demolition and is structurally sound. The library will occupy it until a new library building is completed next fall.

SPACE FOR BOOKS

Bulging with 55,000 volumes, the present library would be virtually inoperable if additional space were not obtained. Services switched to the former News-Palladium offices will be of a non-public nature — storage and the catalogue process.

Shifting of these functions to the new location will start as soon as possible. The library is not expected to reopen to the public until after the first of the year.

The wall tumbled and two rooms were wrecked when the foundation of the old building collapsed during excavating for the new library.

ADMISSIONS

Patient admitted to Margaret Lyle hospital during the past 24 hours was Mrs. Dale Rabe, 18121 Trudy drive, Spring Lake.

AT BARD SCHOOL

'Teamwork' Gets Stolen Clothes Back

Teamwork by three Benton Harbor school officials has recovered most of the clothing taken from five St. Joseph junior high school boys last week while they were playing basketball at Bard school.

Conducting the investigation were Calvin Wheeler, director of Bard community school; Gene McFadden, director of community education, and Charles Gray, attendance officer.

Wheeler said the clothing was recovered by imposition of discipline, suspension of youth recreation activities at Bard, and a lot of interviewing.

"Most of the boys want to do the right thing. It's just a question of convincing them that their loyalty is first owed to themselves, their school and community," said Wheeler.

Some boys have a distorted concept of what "chicken" means. "We try to impress on them that speaking the truth is a mark of courage while a real 'chicken' is inclined to lie," Wheeler explained.

Investigation is continuing to locate a parka. So far four boys have been implicated in the actual taking of the clothing. Wheeler said juvenile court authorities have been kept informed of progress.

Special Services At Churches In St. Joe

Two more St. Joseph churches have announced Christmas Eve services to add to the schedule previously published.

First Evangelical United Brethren church will have a Christmas Eve program at 7 p.m. with the junior and senior high youth of the church in charge. The program will include special music, scripture readings, and a dramatic skit, "From Darkness to Night."

At St. Paul's Episcopal church the Christmas Eve service at 11 p.m. will be conducted by the rector, the Rev. H. Stewart Ross, and the curate, the Rev. R.K. Grieb. Special Christmas music by the choir will be directed by Mrs. Robert Bartz.

St. Joe Boy Writes Poem About Vietnam Christmas

A 14-year-old St. Joseph boy has projected himself into the place of an American soldier and written a poem entitled "Christmas in Vietnam." Jack Goodwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. N.R. (Bud) Goodwin of 515 Howard avenue, wrote the poem for a ninth grade English class at St. Joseph junior high school. It was the boy's first effort at poetry as far as his parents know, although he always has been good at writing themes.

The poem by Jack, a carrier of the St. Joseph Herald-Press for 1 1/2 years, follows:

CHRISTMAS IN VIETNAM

By Jack Goodwin

As we sit on the jungle floor,
We think of a decorated door,
We think of a Christmas tree,
And the hovering of the giant "bee."

The sound of a favorite song,
And the yell of the Viet Cong,
The thought of a Christmas light,
The feeling of a cold, damp night.

We think of a shopping window,
And the noise when the bombs blow.
We think of the weapon so near,
The place and the time of the year.

We remember our friends at home,
And the noise of a wounded man's moan.
The vision of a cold, white snow,
And the sergeant's yell, "Let's go!"

We think of a manger scene,
And the sound of a V.C. scream.
All these and many more,
Make our Christmas in the Vietnam War.

Associate Judge Is Charged

Blind Woman Struck By Car

A charge of failure to yield right-of-way to a pedestrian carrying a white cane has been authorized against Benton Harbor Associate Municipal Judge, Bruce Conybeare.

The charge was authorized by Berrien County Prosecutor John Hammond yesterday, in connection with a car-pedestrian accident Wednesday night, at the junction of Water and Hinkley streets, and Territorial road.

A 68-year-old Benton Harbor woman, Mrs. Latrena Ruth Niles, 120 Sixth street, was injured when struck by a car. She told police she is blind and was carrying a white cane. Mercy hospital officials said today her condition is listed as satisfactory. A prosecutor's official said her physician indicated her injuries were relatively minor.

Conybeare made no statement to police, except that the auto involved was his.

The charge is a low misdemeanor covered under a 1937 state statute. It is not part of traffic codes, so authorization by the prosecutor's office was needed before the charge could be made.

Benton Harbor Municipal court officials said they received the warrant this morning and an appearance date has not been set.

GIFTS FOR BARODA: Two Baroda service organizations have donated a total of $250 to help the Village of Baroda pay for the new Christmas decorations on the main street of town. Village President Edwin Tomlinson accepts a $100 check from Mrs. Harry (Rose) Schultz, president of the Civic League, and a $150 check from Henry Nitz, president of the Community Club. The five decorations cost a total of $500. This is the first year Baroda has erected Christmas decorations of this type. (Staff photo)

FILED AWAY

No Action On 'Unfair Campaign' Charges

DETROIT—Charges of unfair campaign practices made last fall on behalf of State Rep. Floyd Mattheussen and his Republican opponent, Lionel Stacey, have been filed away without plans for further investigation by the State Fair Campaign Practices committee. Secretary Walter Klein said the committee discussed the charges at its meeting this week and set them aside without action because they did not involve any indications of either racial or religious discrimination. He said the committee, headed by Episcopal Bishop Archie H. Crowley of Detroit, has no staff or funds for investigation, and limits its interest to charges involving either racial or religious issues in political campaigns. The committee is composed of a blue ribbon group of citizens. Klein said only that charges of "improprieties" had been made on behalf of Mattheussen and Stacey during the fall campaign. Stacey, who Thursday completed his last day as principal of Fairplain junior high school, defeated Rep. Mattheussen after a heated campaign for the 44th district seat.

CHRISTMAS CARD TREES: With her own junior-size Santa Claus along, Radio Personality Mary Alice Gerhard, women's director for Station WHFB, visited hospitals throughout Berrien county Thursday delivering her "Christmas Card" trees. Christmas cards sent in by over a thousand of her listeners are festooned on tree forms to bring a little added cheer to hospital patients. Helping her as Santa, Jr., was her young nephew, Steven Schadler, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Schadler, St. Joseph. (Staff photo)

COURTHOUSE DISPUTE

Building Authority To Discuss Lawsuit

A special meeting of the Berrien county building authority has been scheduled next Wednesday, to discuss problems created by a recent civil suit seeking to halt issuance of final courthouse bonds and prevent the county from making further payments on the new building. Allen W. Baker, building authority chairman, said he did not know if the suit would interfere with plans for sale of final bonds but indicated the authority would be looking into the question. "We will be contacting our bonding attorneys for an opinion," he said. The suit, filed by Arthur C. Betz, Lakewood point, Paw Paw lake, claims the building was illegally financed and asks the court to declare the courthouse contract null and void, and block further payments by the county. It also seeks to prevent sale of $650,000 in bonds needed to complete payments for furnishings, additional land, landscaping, parking lots and other final details. Application for issuance of the bonds has not yet been approved by the Michigan Municipal Finance commission, but Probate Judge Ronald Lange, legal counsel for the building authority, said earlier he expected the approval early in 1967 and bonds would then be sold.

Fire Rout
Family Of 6
From HomeAppeal Made To Clothe Youngsters
In Casco Twp.

SOUTH HAVEN — A Casco township family of six was left homeless last night when fire destroyed their two-story frame house on 103rd avenue.

Casco Fire Chief Harry Overhiser said an appeal is being made through the South Haven branch of the Salvation Army to obtain food and clothing for Zolzie Yates and his five children.

"They lost everything," Overhiser said. "Somebody must have grabbed some Christmas gifts — I saw them lying out by the road. But they hardly salvaged enough to put in two bushel baskets."

James Diebold, secretary-treasurer for the Salvation Army, said Yates is a widower and has been receiving aid to dependent children so he can remain at home and care for his family.

He said the children are Theresa, 7, who wears size eight; Larry, 8, size 10; Mike, 12, size 14; Gary, 13, and Gerald, 14, both size 16.

Any persons wishing to donate items may call the South Haven police department, Diebold said.

Casco volunteer firemen were called to the Yates home around 7 p.m. Thursday when fire was discovered in the attic around a chimney.

HEAD START
Chief Overhiser said the fire had a good start before it was discovered. By the time fire trucks arrived, the house was half-consumed by flames.

He said all members of the Yates family were at home when the fire broke out, but everyone was able to escape safely.

The fire was believed to have been caused by either a defective chimney or defective wiring, Overhiser added.

The house was owned by Minnie Goldberg of Chicago.

New Bridge

StartedOver Black River
In South Haven

SOUTH HAVEN — City manager Leonard Harris said today he has been advised that workmen for the L.W. Lamb Company, of Holland, will be setting up Jan. 3 to begin construction of the new Dyckman avenue bridge over the Black river.

The Holland firm as the low bidder on demolition of the old swing bridge and construction of a new bascule-type lift bridge. The price will be $782,000.

Harris said he has also been informed that the present bridge will be closed to vehicular traffic on the day construction begins. He said pedestrian traffic will be allowed to use the bridge until a temporary foot bridge is erected.

The new bridge is not expected to be open to traffic until July 1, 1968.

Automobile traffic will be re-routed via Blue Star Memorial highway and Baseline road for the next year and one half.

B.H. Dance

The Highlanders will provide the music tonight as a series of weekend dances continues at the new Downtown cafe on Wall street, Benton Harbor.

Remodeling of the building, formerly occupied by Troost's furniture, has provided dancing and meeting facilities along with the dining area. Dancing is from 9 to 12. The Highlanders are composed of Jim Benson, Kent Rogers and three brothers, Rick, Gary and Lee Price. No dance is scheduled tomorrow, Christmas eve.

TRACTOR TRAPS BOY: Allegan county Sheriff's Deputy Chet Lokker points to spot where 11 year-old Henry Post of Allegan was pinned beneath a tractor for 20 minutes Thursday. Standing behind the broken wheel of the tractor is Robert Hiscock of Allegan, the driver of the wrecker that lifted the tractor off the youth who is today listed in satisfactory condition at the Allegan Health Center where he is being treated for a broken pelvis. Tractor Rolls Over On
Boy, 11, In Allegan

ALLEGAN—An 11 year-old boy was pinned beneath a large farm tractor for 20 minutes Thursday morning before a wrecker could be summoned to free him. Neighbors had tried unsuccessfully to lift the vehicle. The boy, Henry Post, is listed in satisfactory condition today at the Allegan Health Center where he is being treated for a fractured pelvis. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Post of route 5, Allegan. Allegan County Sheriff's Deputy Chet Lokker said Henry was pulling an empty hay wagon with the tractor when the rig suddenly rolled out of control on an icy hill. The boy said he tried to shift the tractor's gears down to slow the vehicle but it left the roadway and rolled over on top of him.

YOUNGSTER WATCHES
The lower part of his body was pinned beneath the seat and fender. The mishap was witnessed by Garth Henthorn, 10, who was standing at the front window of his home, Lokker said. The accident occurred six miles north of Allegan on 127th avenue near 32nd street in Monterey township about 10:20 a.m.

The youth's father only recently recovered from injuries suffered in a similar tractor mishap.

SOUTH HAVEN — First Ward Alderman William McDonald announced yesterday he will toss his hat in the political ring once again to seek his third term in office.

A third candidate for the second ward supervisor's job also stepped forward yesterday. He was William Taft, 52, 418 Hubbard street.

Taft, who will be running as a Republican, will oppose Edward Soergel for the party nomination in the Feb. 20 primary election. Elvin Ellison has filed as a Democratic candidate for the job.

A semi-retired businessman, Taft is a former member of the city council and the South Haven cemetery board.

McDonald, 62, joined the city council about 1960 to fill the unexpired term of George Hansen, after Hansen moved out of his ward. He was re-elected to a four-year term in office in 1962.

He is general manager of National Motors Casting Corp. and lives at 751 Fair Ridge road.

City Clerk Rita Verdonk announced yesterday that petitions must be filed by candidates by 4 p.m., Jan. 2. She said she was informed by the state elections commission that the Jan. 3 date previously announced was incorrect, even if Jan. 2 is a holiday. Her office will be open until 4 p.m. that day.

During Holidays

A 54-year-old St. Joseph woman was killed Thursday night in the start of the dangerous hours of holiday weekend traffic.

Benton township police reported Mrs. Dean (Billie Marie) Mills walked into the path of a car at Territorial road and Wells avenue. She sustained a broken neck and was pronounced dead at Mercy hospital about 7:30 p.m.

Her death was the 55th in Berrien county highway accidents this year. At the same date in 1965, 58 persons had been killed. However, eight persons died in traffic accidents between Christmas eve and New Years.

PUBLIC WARNED
Authorities repeated the obvious warning that the rush for holiday errands and parties can have tragic results.

Police reported Mrs. Mills, who lived at 214½ State street, was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Joanne Louise Pierson, 36, route 4, Benton Harbor. Mrs. Pierson was not ticketed.

Witnesses told police Mrs. Mills had been narrowly missed by another car just before the accident. Officers found a partially empty vodka bottle in the victim's purse.

She was struck while attempting to cross Territorial. Sgt. Paul Farris and Patrolman Jack Hall reported Mrs. Pierson said she was driving slowly along Territorial and struck something.

Mrs. Mills' husband, Dean, 41, told police he and his wife had been visiting at a Baldwin avenue residence when Mrs. Mills left alone in their car.

The car apparently stalled at Wells Avenue and Brice road and Mrs. Mills began walking north on Wells, according to police.

A witness, John Sawyer, 28, Benton Heights, said his car narrowly missed Mrs. Mills. He said he looked through his rearview mirror and saw her walk into the path of the Pierson car.

The accident occurred after dark and the road was slippery.

NATIVE OF MEMPHIS
Mrs. Mills was born in Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 2, 1912, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Wood. She came to this area in 1945 from Tennessee.

She was married in St. Joseph on Dec. 28, 1952. Her husband survives. They had no children.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1 p.m. in the Kerlikowske & Starks funeral home, St. Joseph. Burial will be in the North Shore Memory Gardens.

YORK, Ala. — A young Bloomingdale, Mich., man and his wife were killed near here Thursday when their car crashed into a bus as they were headed for Michigan to visit relatives for the holidays.

The victims were Daniel Martinson, 22, an airman stationed at the Meridian Naval Air Station and Meridian, Miss., and his wife, Sharon, 20.

Martinson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Martinson of Bloomingdale and Mrs. Martinson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McDonald of Kalamazoo.

CAR HITS BUS
The Alabama Highway Patrol said the young man and wife were the only occupants of the car that collided with a Trailways bus on fog-shrouded US-11. Two persons on the bus were injured.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete. Services for both Martinson and his wife will be handled by the Truesdale funeral home at Kalamazoo.

The couple was married Dec. 18, 1955. He had entered the Navy in March. She was a first-grade teacher at a Meridian school.

Martinson was born Oct. 26, 1944 in Niles and moved with his family to Bloomingdale when he was eight months old. He graduated from Bloomingdale high school in 1963 and attended Western Michigan university for a year.

Flee Benton Blaze

Benton township's volunteer fire department almost had too few volunteers for a major alarm Thursday night, said Chief Kenneth Kraiger.

He reported only one volunteer responded to the first alarm of a fire in an apartment occupied by the Roosevelt Jones family at 399 Felton street.

Four children escaped ahead of flames, which destroyed a bedroom and living room. The volunteer, Lloyd Sanders, suffered a minor injury that did not require treatment.

Chief Kraiger said the first truck on the scene carried only Sanders and L. Bruce Barrett. Normally, about four volunteers accompany a truck.

When Garrett reported a serious blaze, only one volunteer was left to pilot Station 1's extra pumper truck. "That's the gamble you take with a volunteer department," Kraiger said.

Firemen at the scene also called in a pumper and several men from another Benton station.

The cause of the blaze is undetermined. Both Joneses were at work at the time, Kraiger said.

Special Sort Of Thing Happened That Christmas Eve

GEORGE HORST

Poor Family Needed Help-- And A Baby Was Crying

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following Christmas story was written by George Horst, 228 Bradford drive, Fairplain, a personal consultant for Auto Specialties Manufacturing Co. of St. Joseph. Horst is an ordained minister who left the pastorate of the St. Joseph Congregational church to enter the field of industrial relations. He returned here to live after retiring in 1963 as corporate director of personnel and industrial relations for the American Viscose Co., Philadelphia. The accompanying illustration was furnished by the Rev. Horst. Other of his Christmas stories have been published in this newspaper in years past.

A BABY WAS CRYING

By George Horst

If you are among those who regard the universe as a cold mechanism, fixed in every detail, disinterested in and unresponsive to human life, and if you have a pat answer for everything that occurs and are convinced that if something cannot be explained then it does not exist — this narrative is not for you; don't waste your time reading it.

But, if you are one of the many who live in reverential awe of this majestic and mysterious universe, and who do not profess to understand all human experiences and who lean morally and spiritually in the direction of the religious conviction that there is cosmic, intelligent participation and intervention in the affairs of the human race — read on!

FAMILY'S PLIGHT
The substance of this narrative relates to a destitute family brought to a low estate during the economic upheaval in the early thirties. An agent of the County Welfare Department had called in the early afternoon on the day before Christmas to describe the plight of this family, a mother and four small children. The youngest of the four was about five months old. Mother and children were living in what had been a tenant house located about five miles north and east of Benton Harbor.

The husband and father had forged a check in the early fall of that year on the bank account of a man who owed him wages but refused to pay him. The husband was apprehended and sentenced to serve several months in jail and was in jail on this day before Christmas.

What the welfare agent had seen in that home at noon of that day was tragic, verging on the near limit of tragedy — out of food; the only source of heat was a utility kerosene stove and no doubt would be out of kerosene by the time of his report.

This gloomy situation became a problem, people everywhere were desperately trying to make sense of their own affairs. The only man on the street willing to assist in the loading of an ancient Studebaker truck was one of God's beloved sons — one who in early life had made the wrong turn and had lost his way — Heinie Ewald. On this day Heinie was sober because as he had said, "Tomorrow is Christmas!"

STARTED OUT
It was about four o'clock in the afternoon when we left St. Joseph with the truck loaded with a new coal burning stove, coal, food, clothing and toys. And now heavy snow, huge soggy snow flakes filled the air. Without benefit of windshield wipers or heater we finally made our way on Paw Paw Avenue to the open country. We turned onto the Riverside road. Visibility was virtually zero. "Don't be afraid, Preacher", Heinie had said several times.

And then it happened — we heard a train whistle whining to our right but we couldn't see the train's headlight because of the snow filled air. We tried the brakes but they wouldn't hold — wet and frozen! Heinie reached over as if he were trying to steady my arm or hold on to me in a moment that appeared to be certain death for the two of us because now we could see the engine's headlight and the truck continued to move forward — and then the truck shuddered and stopped and it was as though we had driven against a stone wall. The passenger train sped by so close that we could feel the air currents breaking against us.

We reached the darkened house and Heinie took charge. He assured the mother and children that we were friends. Heinie opened the door, his flashlight showed the children and mother in each others arms, cold, hungry and terrified — the small baby had cried so much that now it was capable of only a plaintive whimper.

Heinie had served in the Navy during World War I and those of us who knew him after the service were aware that the plague that possessed him had dulled his faculties — but on that evening every skill that he had ever possessed came alive.

TAKES CHARGE
The stove was assembled and put into place almost as if by magic. He snapped out orders as if he were a captain on the bridge — "Start the fire," he commanded "while I fill the lantern with kerosene." "Give everyone a sandwich, and don't let them eat too fast — break the sandwiches into small pieces so that the children will have to eat slowly." I saw to it that the children did not gulp their food for who was I not to follow orders of Captain Heinie Ewald for now he was in command of the ship!

He cleaned the table, placed a sauce pan with milk on the stove for the baby, the stove which was now roaring — or at least it seemed so — like a furnace. "Hamburgers coming up," he reported cheerfully and now the children were joining in the fun with Heinie.

"The baby will need a bath, where is the water pump?" He brought in several pails of water, heated a pail full to the boiling point; cleaned a wash tub and filled the tub with hot and cold water until the mother said the temperature was right — the baby had its bath and the children and mother turned to the table of food but did not eat until the children folded their hands and the oldest child said, "Thank you God for this nice meal!" — and Heinie understood that he was the nice man.

As Heinie had gone about his self-imposed assignment, I could feel the presence of his mother from another world, directing him in everything that he did — and then we started our return trip still without brakes.

By this time, the snow had stopped falling. The air was clear. When we came to the railroad crossing, I said to Heinie, "Why did the truck stop with a shudder?" Heinie said softly — and if I had looked at him I would have seen a tear roll down his face — "Well it's Christmas Eve and a baby was crying!"

Suit Asks $100,000 In Damages

Follows Crash On Pipestone

Damages totaling $100,000 are asked in a civil suit filed Thursday in connection with a three-car collision Nov. 27, 1965, in which a Sodus area woman was injured.

Plaintiffs in the suit are Stanley J. and Edna Glowacki, route 1, Sodus. Mrs. Glowacki, passenger in the car driven by her husband, asks $75,000 damages for injuries she allegedly received in the crash. She had been reported in critical condition for a short time after the collision.

Her husband asks $25,000 damages for his wife's medical costs and loss of her companionship.

AT INTERCHANGE
Named as defendants in the suit are John D. Price, Jr., driver of another car involved in the crash, and John D. Price, Sr., his father and owner of the car he was driving.

The accident was on Pipestone road at the I-94 interchange. The suit contends Price's car hit the rear of a pickup driven by James Vliet, East Britain avenue, Benton township, and pushed it into the path of the oncoming Glowacki car.

File No. 18135
IN THE PROBATE COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF BERRIEN

In the Matter of the Petition of INDIANA & MICHIGAN ELECTRIC COMPANY TO Condemn Interests in Certain Lands in Baroda and Weasaw Townships, Berrien County, Michigan, for the Purpose of Transmitting, Distributing and Supplying Electric Energy for Public Use.

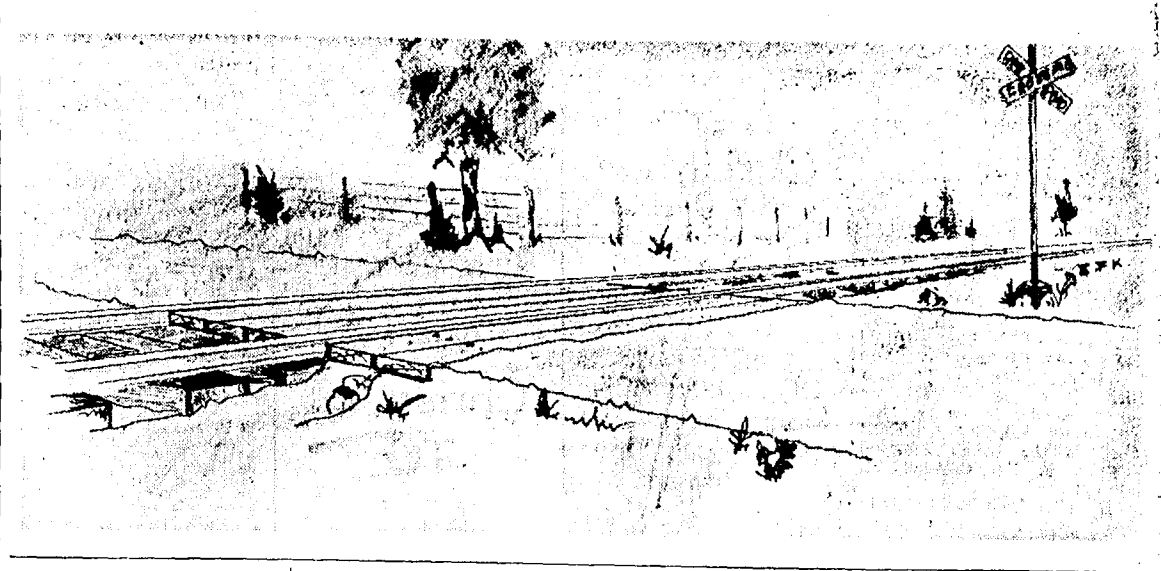

IT IS ORDERED that on January 3, 1967, at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon in the Probate Court room in the Court House in the City of St. Joseph, a hearing be held on the Petition of the Indiana & Michigan Electric Company to condemn a right-of-way easement for the construction and maintenance of an electric power line for transmission of electricity for public use, together with certain rights and appurtenances thereto, as more particularly described in the Petition of said Indiana & Michigan Electric Company heretofore filed in this matter in accordance with the provisions of Act 238 of the Public Acts of 1923 of the State of Michigan, such Petition concerning lands located in the Townships of Baroda and Weasaw, County of Berrien, State of Michigan, and in which lands Albert Nitz and Mollie Nitz, Joseph K. Hellmuth and Lucille Hellmuth, and Clarence Marsh, Sr. and Nina Marsh, have an interest, and

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the parties in interest hereinbefore named, and each of them, shall cause their appearance to be made in said matter on or before the date set for hearing, and

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the parties in interest, and each of them, shall answer said Petition for condemnation and show cause, if any they, or each of them, have against the same. Publication and service to be made as provided by statute and court rule.

DATED: December 9, 1966.

KICKED OFFICER Benton Man Guilty Of Assault, Larceny

A 27-year-old Benton township man, accused of kicking a police officer, was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail after being found guilty of assault and battery during a trial yesterday before Municipal Judge Elizabeth Forhan.

He is Clyde Brown, Jr., of 249 Cornelia street, who also was ordered to pay a $100 fine and costs or serve 30 days in jail.

Brown, in a separate trial yesterday, also was found guilty by Judge Forhan of petty larceny and sentenced to pay a $100 fine and costs or serve 30 days in jail.

The assault charge stemmed from an incident Nov. 10 during which Brown kicked Benton Harbor Lt. Lyman Keigley in an ankle and leg. Keigley said he was arresting Brown on the petty larceny warrant when the incident occurred.

Brown in the larceny charge, was accused of taking a watch from a Burl Swain.

Emmitt Hubbard, 23, of 352 High street, Benton Harbor, yesterday was bound over to Berrien circuit court on a charge of assault with intent to rape.

He was accused of assaulting a 15-year-old girl in the city last July 15 and was bound over following an examination before Municipal Judge Elizabeth Forhan.

Donald Worley, 43, of 1068 Villa court, Benton Heights, pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of assault and battery and was sentenced to pay a $25 fine and $25.50 in costs. He was arrested for attacking Willard (Bud) Benfield, Jr., 549 Pavone street, Benton Harbor, with a broken glass Nov. 6 in a Benton Heights bar. He originally had been charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

B.H. Pair Placed On Probation

Cases in Berrien Circuit Court

Two young Benton Harbor men were given probationary sentences Thursday, in sessions before Berrien Circuit Judge Philip A. Hadsell.

Freddie Atkinson, 17, of 464 McAllister avenue, was given two years' probation for breaking and entering. He was also fined $50 and ordered to pay costs of $50, a state tax of $5 for the law enforcement officers' training funds, and $21.75 restitution.

Atkinson was convicted in connection with the Oct. 1 burglary of Boy's grocery store, 330 Paw Paw avenue.

Given a year on probation for unlawful use of a motor vehicle was Charles Moore, 24, of 784 Buss avenue. He was also ordered to pay $63 fine, costs and tax. Moore was charged with unlawfully using a wrecked truck, Sept. 25.

Drum, Bugle Corps Holds Annual Party

The Twin City Drum and Bugle corps staged its annual Christmas party at Cerny's new roller skating rink at Coloma Wednesday night.

The affair, attended by 110 persons, included two hours of dancing to Les Warren's Pedestrians band and two hours of roller skating.

Members of the parents committee for the party included Mr. and Mrs. Mel Varona, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vailenouet, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Myer, Mrs. Sally Sing, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ostrander.

Dies In Crash

HILLSDALE (AP) — Kenneth Dunham, 55, of Edon, Ohio, was killed Thursday when his car smashed head-on into another auto on a curve on M 49 just north of the Ohio border in Hillsdale County.

RESUSCITATION FAILS: Ambulance driver-attendant Daniel K. Mahon desperately but futilely gives mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to one-year-old Laura Brown, who along with three other children of Mrs. Janice Brown died Wednesday night of smoke inhalation in their Akron, Ohio, home. The fire, which caused only $350 damage, snuffed out the life of Laura's half-brother, Anthony Wayne Chatman, 4, and brothers Kenneth Eugene, 3, and Stacy Dean, 2. (AP Wire-photo)

PROPOSED VACATION OF ALLEY "H" IN THE URBAN RENEWAL DISTRICT TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
TAKE NOTICE that the following resolution was adopted and approved by the City Commission of the City of St. Joseph, Michigan, on Monday, January 16, 1967, at 7:30 o'clock p.m., for the purpose of hearing objections to the proposed vacation of Alley "H" in the Urban Renewal District, in the City of St. Joseph, Berrien County, Michigan:
WHEREAS the City Commission deems it advisable to vacate the following described alley in the Urban Renewal District in the City of St. Joseph:
"H" Alley from Port Street to River Street between Court Street and Main Street
AND
WHEREAS the Department of Urban Renewal has requested that the foregoing alley and portion of alley be vacated to permit development in accordance with the City's Urban Renewal plan (Mich. R-75), and
WHEREAS the City Commission is fully advised in the premises
THEREFORE RESOLVED that the City Commission declares it advisable and in the best interest of the public to vacate said alley.
RESOLVED FURTHER that the City Commission hereby appoints Monday, January 16, 1967, at 7:30 o'clock p.m. in the City Hall in St. Joseph, Michigan, as the time and place when the Commission will meet to hear objections to the proposed vacation of said alley.
RESOLVED FURTHER that the City Clerk give notice thereof together with notice that the Commission will be in session at the aforesaid time and place for the purpose of hearing objections thereto, said notice to be published once in the St. Joseph Herald Press not less than two weeks prior to January 16, 1967.
